

The EChO assessment study and mission design

Ludovic Puig – ESA-ESTEC: Directorate of Science and Robotic Exploration - Future Missions Preparation Office, Noordwijk, The Netherlands

In this talk I will give an overview of EChO assessment study that has been running for just over 2 years, and will summarise the current design for the EChO mission. I will highlight some of the challenges that were encountered over the course of the study and summarise the critical mission requirements.
